GREAT BREAKAWAYS BOLT ATTRACTS SERIOUS COMPETITORS

For the fourth year in succession the GREAT Breakaways Bolt event held on Saturday 30th June, proved to be a resounding success, with 107 participants registered, and 98 starters on the day.

The first cyclist to pass the finish line in this year's BOLT event was SAPOL's Nicole Harry based in Cooper Pedy as Crime Scene Investigator. Nicole finished in just under 2 hours.

As a serious cycling enthusiast, Nicole has been busy training again for this year's BOLT. "I have been out cycling the full distance in my time off in readiness for the BOLT", said Nicole. "Although rather than just doing the 35km stretch home, I have been cycling the full circuit to the Breakaways and back which is between 60 - 70km round trip," she said.

First male and female children cyclists Caris-Haf Britton and Arthur Kyrzaliotis followed closely behind Nicole to the finish line.

The first male cyclist to finish was Kyle Aitken. All winning cyclists finished within 20 minutes of each other.

First Male runner was David Busuttill manager of the Nganampa Health Council health services on APY Lands. David, a marathon runner completed the distance in less than 3 hours. David said he takes every opportunity to run long distances.

Running in second was Exact Mining accountant Rick Ullianich. Rick who flies up from Adelaide to work with Exact Mining, decided to enter the BOLT to take in some extra training. After completing the 35km run Rick who is also a marathon runner said he hadn't realised their were prizes attached to the event.

The cyclist are the first starters in the 2012 GREAT Breakaways Bolt

"The run from the Breakaways is something I would do again, if only to take in the magnificent landscape that I ran through. I had no idea it was so beautiful out here," said Rick.

First Female runner was Penny Burke who finished in just under 4 hours.

Local Identity Jimmy Nikoloudis was the first to walk the full 35kms, taking 4 hours 40 minutes

COUNCIL SCORES $910,000 TO HELP REPLACE ASBESTOS PIPELINE

Coober Pedy's Mayor Steve Baines with Water Supply Manager Phil Van Poorten at the Water Plant after hearing of the successful funding application

$910,000 has been awarded to the District Council of Cooper Pedy towards the $1.84 million "Water For Growth" project in the second round of the Regional Development Australia Fund (RDAF).

Coober Pedy's application for the water pipeline infrastructure funding was disappointedly knocked back in round one of the RDAF funding grants last year.

Regional Australia Minister Simon Crean was in Cooper Pedy on Wednesday 4 July to announce the funding.

Minister Crean said, "the project will provide a pipeline from a sub-artesian bore-field, develop irrigation systems at the town oval and extend the community orchard."

"The new pipeline will save the council $140,000 annually with savings being invested in growing the population of the town and region in-line with the expansion of the resource industry," he said.

Coober Pedy Mayor's, Steve Baines said, "I am extremely pleased to have received this Commonwealth funding. The funding for this project has been sourced from the three tiers of government and will ensure that Cooper Pedy will have a continued and viable supply of water for the next 30 years."

"My congratulations to everyone involved who was a part of putting together the submission for this project. This is testament to what can be achieved with perseverance", said the Mayor..

District Council Water Supply Manager Phil Van Poorten is estastic with the announcement of the boreline funding.

"The asbestos boreline is at the end of it's useful existence. With replacement imminent the water supply workers will no longer have to go down into the trenches in their asbestos protection suits to repair and replace blown out pipes", said Mr. Van Poorten.

Ramsey Calls on a Fix for Coober Pedy's Soaring Electricity Prices

Rowan Ramsey, MP Member for Grey

Federal Member for Grey Rowan Ramsey has used the Federal Parliament to again raise the issue of the huge surge in electricity prices for businesses in Coober Pedy.

"These prices are putting businesses at a competitive disadvantage to comparative tourism destinations in remote areas of other states," he said.

Mr Ramsey said this was raised as the single most important issue facing the town on his visit to Coober Pedy last week.

He has called on the State Government of South Australia to fulfil its duty to make sure residents and businesses have a fair deal.

"All other states support their regional communities in the generation of off-grid electricity," Mr Ramsey said.

"Last year when the Labor Government reduced the subsidy I put forward a successful motion to the Federal Parliament which was ignored by a government that increasingly turns it back on country people, while milking the profits of income generated by mining and agriculture."

From July 1, the carbon tax is in the mix, the State Government winds back support even further and electricity for businesses in Coober Pedy will skyrocket by another 30 percent. With more rises to come, traders will be squeezed harder and harder and will be forced to pass on this rise to residents and tourists.

"In twelve months time and every year afterwards the carbon tax will rise and electricity will rise with it," Mr Ramsey said.

"The workers of Coober Pedy are people on the same wages as the rest of the nation but forced to pay considerably above normal prices for goods and services.

We are just beginning to see the effects of the Carbon Tax and its impact on regional and remote people will be far higher than those in the metropolitan area."

New smoke-free laws

Changes to the Tobacco Products Regulation Act 1997 mean that, from 31 May 2012:

- Smoking is banned within 10 metres of children's public playground equipment.
- Smoking is banned under covered public transport waiting areas, including bus, tram, train and taxi shelters and other areas used to board or alight from public transport that are covered by a roof.
- Local councils and other incorporated bodies can apply to have an outdoor area or event declared smoke-free.
- The age that a person can be fined for smoking-related offences has been reduced to 15 years.

Information sheets on smoke-free playgrounds, smoke-free covered public transport waiting areas, and declared smoke-free outdoor areas and events are also available at www.tobaccolaws.sa.gov.au.

What is the purpose of the new laws?

Research shows that outdoor smoking is a potential hazard, particularly around larger numbers of active smokers and under certain wind conditions. This means that passive smoking is a risk for people who spend time in confined outdoor public places.

These new laws are based on evidence that they will have an impact on reducing the prevalence of smoking and passive smoking, as well as reducing children's perceptions of smoking as a glamorous or normal behaviour.

Support for smoke-free outdoor areas

Tobacco smoke in outdoor areas can produce symptoms of ill health and can aggravate many health conditions, such as asthma, chronic obstructive airways diseases and cystic fibrosis. Smoke-free areas are designed to protect the health of the community. They also increase the comfort and enjoyment for all people using public spaces, especially spaces that may be crowded or where people congregate.

Why public playground equipment?

Banning smoking within 10 metres of children's playground equipment aims to protect the health of children. Children are often more susceptible to the immediate health effects of passive smoking and continuous exposure has been found to increase the risk of illnesses, such as middle ear infections, bronchitis and pneumonia. The ban will also help to prevent children thinking that smoking is normal.

Carbon Tax will increase carbon emissions

Rail to pay Carbon Tax - Truck freight is exempt

The Australasian Railway Association (ARA) has posted a webpage today (www.ara.net.au/site/carbon-tax-rail.php) illustrating that the carbon tax will increase transport-related carbon emissions.

Rail companies will pay approximately $110 million per year whilst the road industry is exempt. This will be passed onto rail customers and eventually end consumers, through heightened grocery costs. Rail customers may even switch to the more polluting road freight industry which is exempt from the tax, putting more trucks on our roads and more transport-related emissions into the atmosphere.

ARA CEO Bryan Nye said despite producing three times less emissions than road, rail will be required to pay a pollution tax while road is exempt.

"Trains emit one third the pollution of trucks and yet the rail industry is required to pay a $110 million carbon tax each year whilst one of Australia's largest polluters is given a free pass," he said.

"Ironically, the carbon tax, which is designed to reduce pollution levels, provides a financial incentive to switch to trucks which will put more trucks on our roads, and increase transport-related emissions."

The webpage was launched to educate decision makers, rail customers and the general public on the adverse impacts of the carbon tax on rail transport and the likely increase of transport emissions.

"Through the webpage, we are aiming to educate people on the real impacts of this tax," continued Mr Nye.

"Rail freight operators will be forced to pay tens of millions of dollars with the carbon tax and rail customers are understandably unhappy about the proposed price increases. Some are actively considering switching to road which will put more trucks on our road and increase emissions."

The webpage urges Government to reconsider the illogical application of the carbon tax on the transport sector.

"Rail has repeatedly stated its support for action on climate change but we need to raise awareness that the carbon tax will reduce rail's competitive ability, put more trucks on our roads and increase transport-related emissions."

The Rail Industry, through the ARA seeks amendments to the carbon tax to provide equal treatment for road and rail, by either removing the exemption for the trucking industry or providing the same exemption for rail.

"The Government should explain the logic behind taxing the emissions friendly rail sector and exempting the carbon intensive road heavy vehicles," said Mr Nye.

"If the carbon tax is to be effective in reducing pollution, the way the tax is to be applied to rail and not road needs to change," concluded Mr Nye.

MAYOR'S REPORT

Council Meeting 19 June 2012

During the past month I have spent a considerable amount of time trying to find a way forward with the Federal Governments requirement to introduce security screening at regional airports.

In December last year Council received advice from the Department of Transport and Infrastructure that we would be classed as a Category 6 security controlled airport. Category 6 airports are able to accept RPT and open charter aircraft up to 20,000kg and all closed charter aircraft without a requirement to carry out security screening.

It then came to light that several regional airports, including Coober Pedy, have a tour operator that conducts air tours in and out of our airports using Alliance Fokker 50 aircraft that weigh 20,800kg and are classed under the regulations as open charter aircraft. To continue to accept these aircraft after July 31st this year Council would need to upgrade to a Category 5 security controlled airport which would require security screening equipment to be installed at our airport and staff trained in the use of the equipment. This equipment would include a security screening wand, explosive detection device and baggage screening equipment. There would also be a requirement to provide trained and authorised staff to attend each open charter flight and carry out passenger security screening.

June Council Meetings Brief:-

Council approved a donation in the amount of $350 cash and $1,800 in kind towards the 2012 Coober Pedy Amateur Race Club Annual Race Meeting to be held during August 2012.

Council has appointed Terry Bruun and Rex Mooney to facilitate a review of Council's Strategic and Financial plans. Workshops will commence during August 2012.

Council to provide $500 sponsorship towards the Advantage SA Annual 2012 SA Regional Awards Far North presentation function .

Council has been advised of processes required by the new SA Public Health Act 2011, which will include the requirement of Council to develop a regional health plan for its area.

After most regional airports declined to install security screening equipment, and after much lobbying by the charter operator, South Australian Tourism Commission and others the Department of Infrastructure and Transport agreed to make available $100,000 to the airline operators to install portable screening equipment on the aircraft that operate open charters. Alliance has declined this offer stating that the equipment is bulky and is not portable therefore each of their aircraft would need to be fitted. They also claim that all their flight crew would need to be trained in the use of the equipment.

I have been working closely with the Mayor of Kangaroo Island and the tour owner in an effort to find a way forward but we are quickly running out of time as the July 1st deadline approaches. As such I have written to The Hon Anthony Albanese, Federal Minister for Transport and Infrastructure requesting an extension of time until a suitable resolution can be found.

At this time the Australian Air Holidays have 18 Lake Eyre flights scheduled. Each of these flights overnight in Coober Pedy generating tourism dollars and employment to our community.

Last year Australian Air Holidays paid in excess of $9500 in landing fees to Council.

Steve Baines
Mayor

Council awarded tender S02/12 for the operation of the Fitzgerald Dam Quarry and Supply of Sand and Aggregate to East, Palmer Contractors commencing from the 16th of July 2012.

Current works activities include:-

Street kerbing work continuing in Brewster Street and will also commence on Gough in the near future. There will also be kerbing works on Post Office Hill road adjacent to the Gough Street intersection.

Council has had many cases of illegal dumping and a recent case has been cleaned up by the Council at a large cost to ratepayers in the amount of $2500.

Illegal rubbish dumping in a creek close to Coober Pedy

The Local Government Act and Environment Protection Act impose large penalties for illegal dumping.

As an example it is an offence to deposit rubbish on a public road or place and the maximum penalty is $5,000. Council does operate a Landfill which is open to the public for them to deposit their rubbish
– contact the Council for opening times. Illegal dumping is unsightly, causes health issues and costs the community many dollars to clean up
– please ensure that as a community that we all are responsible with our unwanted waste. If a member of the public witnesses any illegal dumping then please report the incident to Council.

Coober Pedy Street and Road Names

Where did the name of your street come from?

Part 10 in a series - by Sue Britt

Big Johns Road and The Painters Road

Some streets carry the nickname of the person who lived there. Big Johns Road is one of these. It is named for a Greek opal miner who lived there in the 1960's and 70's. The Painters Road conjures up visions of a commune of artists and easels but, in fact, it was named for a house painter who still lives there.

The Painters Road is named for Franco Pagnani

Franco came to Coober Pedy from Melbourne about 1970 "looking for opal; I like to get rich." He spent plenty of time looking for opal and he found some but he did painting work for "sure money." Franco painted houses mainly. He worked for the Housing Trust and did private work. To attract business he had a sign he made himself at the bottom of the road where he lived: The Painters.

That was in the days of the Progress Association. Then the new District Council came into being and they said, "No private signs on the roads." But, when they started putting up road signs, they just copied Franco's sign. That's how his advertising sign became the official name of the road.

Franco has been a member of the CPARC, Racing Club for over 20 years. He is the man who comes out of the little pink house to collect your money on race days. It's a job he does conscientiously, knowing that the admissions money is needed not only for the Race Club but also for the community projects and charities they support.

Big Johns Road

Big John was well liked and is well remembered, as Big John. Few remember his real name but everyone remembers his tragic death at Olympic with his two partners.

According to an article in the Adelaide News 5/3/80 his name was John Vousvouris. He was about 38 years of age when he died. His partners were Gregory Digaletos, 34, and Nick Nathanael, 48. All three were experienced opal miners.

Big John is credited with the discovery and naming of Olympic Field in 1963. Early in 1980, the partners had found good money and were ready to start something new. John and Nick planned to go back to Greece and get married.

Gregory was planning to start work on a new claim. The tunnel collapsed when they went down to dig a last couple of metres and they were crushed and buried under tonnes of rock 20m underground.

Employers: 2012-13 tax tables now available

UNAGREED MINTABIE LEASE 'AGREEMENT' PRESSES AHEAD!

The ATO is reminding employers to use the new Pay As You Go (PAYG) withholding tax tables from 1 July 2012.

Tax Commissioner Michael D'Ascenzo said employers need to apply these new tax rates to payments made on or after 1 July even if some of the payment relates to work performed before this date.

"The ATO recently wrote to 900,000 employers to inform them that new income tax rates will apply from 1 July."

"If an employer uses a computer system or a service provider to manage their payroll, they should ensure that their software has been updated."

"Employers can also use the free ATO tax withheld calculator available at www.ato.gov.au/taxwithheldcalculator, to quickly work out how much tax to withhold from their employees' salary or call the ATO on 13 28 66 to discuss their specific circumstances," Mr D'Ascenzo said.

The new tax tables are available from the ATO website at www.ato.gov.au/taxtables or by calling the ATO on 1300 720 092. Paper copies of the weekly and fortnightly tax tables are also available at ATO shopfronts and most newsagents.

For residents in the historic opal mining township of Mintabie, the writing is appearing on the wall, that the South Australian State Government are planning to close down their town and force them out of their homes

Mintabie Miners say that since a Town Meeting with government bureaucrats to discuss a new town lease on 8 May 2012 they have had no further contact with the government or DMITRE

"The Mintabie residents refused to sign a lease agreement that they clearly didn't agree to, but DMITRE it appears are soldiering on regardless", said Mintabie Progress Association Chairman, Lee Craggs.

Lee Craggs has said, "Mark Sutton General Manager of The Outback Community Authority (OCA) has told us that they will no longer fund the township of Mintabie from July 2013, despite the Mintabie residents will still be required to pay State taxes."

The Mintabie Township lies within the boundaries of Yankunytjatjara Homelands. The APY executive have allegedly said that the traditional owners were consulted.

However, traditional owners spoke to DMITRE at the 8 May meeting, and stated that they had never been consulted on Mintabie's existence and they did not agree with the new lease proposal.

The following forgone conclusion has appeared at http://www.pir.sa.gov.au/minerals/licensing_and_regulation/opal_mining/mining_at_mintabie

Mining at Mintabie

Important notice for all opal miners intending to mine at Mintabie

The Anangu Pitjantjatjara Yankunytjatjara (APY) Land Rights (Mintabie) Amendment Act 2009 will come into operation on 1 July 2012.

As a result of the APY Land Rights (Mintabie) Amendment Act changes have been made to the Opal Mining Act 1995, the changes include the following: Precious stones prospecting permit (PSPP)

A PSPP must be endorsed as a Mintabie PSPP and entry to the Mintabie precious stones field for prospecting is not allowed without that endorsement.

To obtain endorsement, at the time of application for, or a renewal of a PSPP you must indicate on the application form that you wish to enter the Mintabie precious stones field and include a national police clearance certificate not more than 12 months old.

Transitional provisions for prospecting

If a PSPP is in force on 1 July 2012 it will allow entry for prospecting on the Mintabie precious stones field until expiry of the PSPP and you do not need to do anything unless you renew it.

Precious stones tenements

Applications to register or renew precious stones tenements on the Mintabie precious stones field will require the lodgement of a national police clearance certificate not more than 12 months old at the time of application.

Miners are reminded that PSPP's can be renewed up to 30 days prior to expiry and precious stones tenements can be renewed up to 60 days prior to expiry.

Transitional arrangements for pegging a claim up to 30 September 2012

Notice of pegging will be accepted but not registered without the supply of a national police clearance certificate, DMITRE will not expire any tenements where the tenement holder is waiting for a police clearance and can supply proof of application, by providing a copy of the receipt.

Funding to replace asbestos boreline

The $140,000 annual cost of repairs for up 17 years has included man hours, machine hours, and parts to repair and replace the rotting asbestos pipeline.

“The cost of repairing and replacing this worn out asbestos pipe over the 12 -13 years that I’ve been manager would’ve gone a long way towards replacing it”, said Phil Van Poorten.

Mr Crean said, “This project will help secure Coober Pedy’s water future and is a great example of what is possible when you combine partnership investment and persistence.”

After not achieving funding in round one, Coober Pedy Council persisted in it’s quest for the asbestos boreline replacement grant.

From the Coober Pedy Regional Times, Thursday 10 November 2011

Pipeline Replacement

Earlier this year Council applied to Round 1 of the Federal Governments Regional Development Australia Fund (RDAF) for funding for the replacement of twelve kilometres of ageing pipeline that brings our water from the bore to the desalination plant. Unfortunately Council was unsuccessful on that occasion.

Round 2 of the fund is now open and Council have decided to once again make an application to the fund for the replacement pipeline. This time we have engaged Mr Tony Dahlitz from Gibber Plain Solutions to assist us with our application. Tony is very experienced in formulating grant submissions and wrote the successful submission for the Flinders Ranges Council under Round 1 of the RDAF.

We are proposing to extend the submission in Round 2 to also encompass an automated watering system for OzMinerals Oval, and an extension to the orchard incorporating some skills training and water saving measures.

Coober Pedy’s ‘Water for Growth Project’

The District Council of Coober Pedy are taking a strategic focus with the Water for Growth Project looking to ‘future proof’ Coober Pedy’s water supply and develop the quality of Coober Pedy as a regional centre and residential location.

The Federal RDA funding will enable council contractors to supply and install 12 kilometres of new 225mm (9”) diameter PVC water pipeline from the Great Artesian Basin bore-field 26 km north of Coober Pedy.

This work will be undertaken by a suitably qualified external contractor following a public tender process.

The funding will provide a new irrigation system to the town oval which will reduce current water use.

Council will install 1,800 metres of subsurface irrigation pipe; 85 popup sprinklers; and the purchase and installation of a ‘state of the art’ electronic monitoring and irrigation control system.

Further to the necessary infrastructure, Council will erect a series of 4 new Water for Growth Project interpretation signs, creating a new walking trail and tourist attraction that will both tell the story of water in Coober Pedy and provide recognition of project partners.

The Water for Growth Project at the town oval and community orchard will align with and compliment Council’s current project to provide a family friendly recreation precinct in the vicinity.

2012 GREAT BREAKAWAYS BOLT

Cooper Pedy
REGIONAL TIMES

The 2012 GREAT Breakaways Bolt kicked off with a fresh 9 degrees temperature and a 20km SW wind. By lunch time the temperature had reached 15 degrees with a 32km SW head wind, challenging participants as they ran, walked or cycled along the Oodnadatta track and into Flat Hill Road in the last leg of the race towards town.

Participants and volunteers checked in at the town oval at 8.00am, with a few early birds arriving earlier, keen to start the day. Volunteers were there to collect equipment needed for checkpoints, and participants signed in and received their number.

Bus drivers and other volunteers assisted with loading bikes onto trailers, and allocating seats on the buses.

The convoy of buses and vehicles arrived at the Breakaways starting point by 9.00 am with the first of the starters setting off at 9.40am after a short briefing.

The participants, many of whom were motivated by the inclusion of cash prizes, sponsored by local mining companies IMX Resources and Oz Minerals, followed the tradition route through the spectacular Breakaways then along the Dog Fence to the Oodnadatta Track until they reached Flat Hill Road which took them to the Triangle walking track and back to the finishing point at the Town Oval.

For participants who had finished their chosen distance, buses were based at the 5km, 10km, 15km, and 20km checkpoints to pick them up and transport them back to the Oval.

The day was a huge success, with most participants finishing their nominated kilometres, thankfully without having to utilise the ambulance or administer first aid at all during the day.

There were some very impressive achievements from participants, with Declan Bell aged 5 and Corey Bell aged 3 walking 10kms with their mum Karin and some friends. No doubt the walk tired the boys out for the rest of the day. The boys' mother Karin Bell mentioned that Declan is already talking about walking the full distance next year.

CPAS student Ayla Jane Forman walked the full 35kms in under 7 hours after only registering to walk 5kms. Opal miner Nick Dimitropoulos also walked the full 35kms finishing shortly after Ayla Jane.

When participants completed their event or arrived back on buses they were greeted at the oval by Joan Andrews, who had made fruit cake, muffins and date loaf for everyone to enjoy. Thank you Joan for your generosity, everyone I have spoken to loved that you had done this.

Chris Durdin and Trish Turner also were at the oval with delicious soups and crusty bread rolls for participants for a gold coin donation to the Hospital Auxilliary's new community bus fund. The soups were definitely a good way to warm up at the end of the day.

I would like to thank all of our volunteers for donating their time to help make this event a success once again, you have all again exceeded our expectations, utilising the UHF radios to communicate amongst each other, and working as a team.

A very special thank you to Tanya Lauder for all of your support in organising this event. Also Peter Woods and Martin Grava who spent Friday afternoon, night and Saturday morning putting up the road and checkpoint signs.

All of the participants deserve a hearty congratulations; you have all done extremely well.

A special presentation will be held after the school holidays where we will present certificates to Volunteers, Participants and Sponsors.

Left: Partipants in the Bolt receive a last minute briefing from Damien Clark

The 2011 Census figures were released earlier this month and again, the figures for Coober Pedy are appallingly inaccurate. This is bitterly disappointing because the Australian Bureau of Statistics huffed and puffed and promised they would put in extra resources this time to ensure the data collected here would be more accurate. They appear to have failed miserably again. This is a calamity for Coober Pedy because these are the figures the government uses to determine the level of services to particular towns and cities.

by Kevin Woon

The total population of Coober Pedy certainly exceeds 1,695. In actual fact it would be close to double that and most people realise the true population would certainly be more than three thousand. However, finding actual statistics to prove that is difficult. There's anecdotal evidence to suggest Census forms weren't delivered or weren't collected which is completely unacceptable.

There are certainly more than 275 Indigenous people living in Coober Pedy. People working providing services for Indigenous people have suggested the true number would be 2 to 3 times that of the Census.

"780 Council Rated houses not counted in Census"

One figure that is completely wrong and can be proved so is the number of dwellings in Coober Pedy. According to the ABS Census statistics there are 1,112 dwellings in Coober Pedy. However, according to the District Council of Coober Pedy who's figures would be more accurate since they charge rates for these properties, there are 1,737 rateable residential properties as at 17th August 2011. That does not include the 58 houses at Umoona Community so the actual total is closer to 1,800 dwellings. That is a considerable difference, so what happened to the other approximately 780 houses? At two people per household average that could be another 1,560 people unaccounted for by the Census which would make the population a more realistic 3,255.

I also find it difficult to believe that almost 36% of the dwellings in Coober Pedy are unoccupied. That seems a ridiculously high percentage considering the lack of housing for sale or rent. I acknowledge a number of people own houses here but don't live here permanently or might have been away on Census night but even so it seems high. Also, there are 625 dwellings unaccounted for too not counting those in Umoona.

The statistic that I found the least accurate is the number of people having completed a university degree. The Census says there were 9 but the actual number would be at least five times that. Consider the fact that all teachers have university degrees and there are 31 at the CPAS (including principals and relieving teachers), nurses all have degrees now as do social workers and doctors.

There are a reasonable number of tertiary qualified people working in other sectors of the workforce (I can think of at least 6 without trying) so to say there are 9 is a joke.

It would be a similar story with those who've completed TAFE courses. Surely more than 27 people here have completed TAFE courses.

As a point of interest using percentages rather than numbers, Coober Pedians are older than average South Australians (no surprise), more religious than South Australians generally, are less likely to get married and more likely to divorce or separate.

The fact that 11.4% of the households don't have motor vehicles certainly strengthens the claim the community needs some bus service. Even on a population of 1,695, 11.4% is 193 households which is a significant number demonstrating a community bus is definitely warranted.

Since the figures for Coober Pedy are so obviously untrue, the Census seems a complete waste of time, effort and taxpayers' money. The tragedy is the government does use these figures when allocating resources throughout the community so Coober Pedy is destined to miss out on its fair share yet again.

As an aside, I learnt while researching for this article that the state government is planning on making Andamooka a major regional centre but not Coober Pedy. Maybe that's because our population has halved in ten years and we're so uneducated, well according to the Census anyway.

The main points of the census include;

- Total population 1,695
- Aboriginal & Torres Strait Islander people 275 (16.2% of total population – State 1.9%)
- Median Age = 45 (State = 39)
- Married 36.7% (State = 48.4%)
- Separated/divorced 19.7% (State = 12.1%)
- Completed TAFE 27
- University qualified 9
- No religion 20.3% (State = 28.1%)
- Most common language other than English = Greek (6.4%)
- Dwellings occupied 712, unoccupied 399, total dwellings 1,112
- Average number of people per household 2
- Households with no motor vehicle 11.4% of population

I WILL SURVIVE SERIES FILMS IN COOBER PEDY

Left: contestants in I Will Survive
Below: Locals and tourists join in the fun

Coober Pedy locals and tourists alike had an opportunity during June to be part of the "I Will Survive Series", which will go to air on Channel 10 in September.

I Will Survive is a talent search for an all-round performer who can sing, dance and act. In the series which will air on Channel 10 in September, the journey of the contestants will be a feature.

As part of the prize the winner will receive &250,000 in cash and then have a whole month in New York City to meet with agents, casting directors and producers to squeeze every last opportunity out of their time on Broadway.

Kevin Woon is a hit with the contestants

Travelling in the famous Priscilla bus the contestants retrace the steps of the box-office smash movie, from Sydney to Alice Springs, performing at each outback location on the way.

Packed To The Rafters' star Hugh Sheridan was the host for the Greek Club segment at Coober Pedy where two of our local residents were celebrating their wedding anniversary.

An entire day was spent at Tom's Working Mine where the contestants sang and danced to the music of Gloria Gaynor's "I Will Survive". The surprised noodlers both locals and tourists will feature in the show when it is goes to air.

A Bingo Night was held at the Italian Club with a local audience enjoying the show tremendously.

Stunning and elaborate costumes and makeup were a feature of the I Will Survive contestants

Tax cuts to benefit millions of Australians from 1 July 2012.

Millions of Australians have recently been provided with an initial payment to help with everyday expenses through the Australian Government's Household Assistance Package.

Now, if you're an individual taxpayer earning less than $80,000 a year, you will benefit from the next part of this package through tax cuts. From 1 July 2012, you'll pay less tax with the tax free threshold tripling to $18,200.

Also, if you currently receive a government payment for families and parents, seniors or individuals, increases to payments will come into effect between March next year and early 2014.

Household Assistance Package includes:

- An initial payment from May 2012
- Tax cuts when the tax free threshold triples from 1 July 2012
- Increases to regular government payments from March 2013

DARK SHADOWS - JOHNNY DEPP [PG]

Barnabas (Johnny Depp) has the world at his feet-or at least the town of Collinsport, Maine. The master of Collinwood Manor, Barnabas is rich, powerful and an inveterate playboy...until he makes the grave mistake of breaking the heart of Angelique Bouchard (Eva Green). A witch, in every sense of the word, Angelique dooms him to a fate worse than death: turning him into a vampire, and then burying him alive. Two centuries later, Barnabas is inadvertently freed from his tomb and emerges into the very changed world of 1972. He returns to Collinwood Manor to find that his once-grand estate has fallen into ruin. The dysfunctional remnants of the Collins family have fared little better, each harboring their own dark secrets. RATED: PG

TIP NO.5 Encouraging Good Behaviour

KEEP PROMISES. Stick to agreements. When you follow through on your promises, good or bad, your child learns to trust and respect you. So when you promise to go for a walk after she picks up her toys, make sure you have your walking shoes handy. When you say you will leave the library if she doesn't stop running around, be prepared to leave straight away. No need to make a fuss about it—the more matter of fact, the better. This helps your child feel more secure, because it creates a consistent and predictable environment.

Sue and Robbie Scott

I've had a busy couple of weeks. To start with I have been out meeting and greeting new residents of Coober Pedy. Sue and Robbie Scott have made a move from Robe in the south east of the state to Coober Pedy. It's a big change in their lives. A reverse Sea Change, moving from a rural coastal community to the desert is more of an Oasis Change.

Me with Ambulance officer Sue Scott

Sue Scott is Coober Pedy's new Ambulance officer. Sue was an Ambulance volunteer team leader for Robe for the last 8 years. She is also Robe's 2012 citizen of the year Australia Day recipient.

Sue always wanted to be a nurse and the Ambulance work allows her to work within the community. It is with strong family support that she has been able to take on this new direction in her life. Sue's husband Robbie is willing to commute between Robe and Coober Pedy to continue working on a fishing boat. However after talking to him, if he can find work around here he is happy to stay. They can see that Coober Pedy has that unique outback spirit and they are both compassionate about what they do and are not afraid to challenge themselves for their new start in life.

I asked Sue about her new work and what her life would be like in Coober Pedy.

Sue said, she and Robbie have been staying at a friend's dugout, and they are convinced that a dugout is the way to live and are looking for a nice place to rent. At this stage they are living out of suitcases and their furniture is in storage. They have a Fox Terrier that will be moving up when they are settled.

I asked Sue about her work.

If I was hurt falling off my comfy lounge (don't laugh - when I'm dreaming about chasing rabbits it happens) Sue said would make a special visit to hold my paw and look after me.

During the interview I thought I heard a dog in distress, but it was all okay

Thursday 5 July 2012

I asked has she ever given CPR or Mouth to Mouth to a dog. Sue said she could do it but so far it had not come up in her Ambulance work.

I asked if I could have a ride in the Ambulance with the sirens and flashing lights. Sue said NO! (Oh come on, I don't want to drive it, please, please can I have a ride?) All my begging didn't work. I'm going to if I can get a ride in a police car or with the CFS.

Welcome to Coober Pedy
Woof, Woof
Your new chum Charlie Paris

Jack Crombie

Talk about catching up with old mates. I don't think you can have a better time than chatting with your friends.

There was a knock at the door the other day and to everyone's surprise there was my Uncle Jack. He was passing through making his way north going to his Fathers country to stay for a while.

Uncle Jack and Aunty Gwen Crombie live in Port Augusta now and I never get to see them.

I asked Mum and Dad if I could go along with him for the ride and hopped into the car as quick as I could. I got out quicker when Uncle Jack said I could be his hunting dog.

My ol' mate Jack Crombie dropped in to have a cuppa with me

He said he was camping out, no comfy lounge or TV and to remember its cold at night. UM! I have so many other commitments I can't go this time, I'll wait for warmer weather and see about a long extension cord for the TV, the lounge isn't a problem, I can take my blow up camp bed and lots of cushions. Mum can pre-prepare my favourite meals to take along, that would be steak smothered with chops and sausages or chops smothered with steak and sausages. Any combination of meat is fine with me.

See you next time Uncle Jack.

Does my bum look big in this?

Winter is a harsh time for the body. When the cold weather comes we look for an excuse to indulge in the extra special food to warm us up, inside and out. I don't know about you but if I eat something wrong it goes straight to my BUM. Well, dogs don't really have hips do they.

My bottom is getting so large if you don't see me coming you definitely see me leaving. If I was the only one to have a winter bottom, it would be OK. There seems to be an epidemic happening out there, my friend Mummy Dog has the same problem. We are thinking about doing an exercise program together. If that doesn't work, every photo from now on will be minus my derriere (that's French for bottom)

This is my exercise playground

If I had the money I could get all my pics Photo-shopped. Everyone is doing it, years ago when Joan Collins was in Play Boy, the photographer said she was like a prune with legs and the only part of her body that wasn't air brushed was her ankles.

I have done some research; I am going to use the same Photoshop formula that Kylie Minogue uses. I should be so lucky, lucky, lucky, lucky.

I looked up the sexiest women in history; there were many names I didn't know. One name that was always in the top 3 was Marilyn Monroe; I can see myself as a young Marilyn. If she was a dog you wouldn't be able to tell us apart. Surprising to me in the top 20 of the list was Anna Nicole Smith, I would need to put on weight to come close to her. Her bottom started at her neck and went down to her ankles.

Lets see now, we could Diet (not going to happen) Exercise (seems unlikely) Air Brushing (only if I'm going to have my photo taken for Play Dog of the year) Photoshop (desperate times call for desperate measures, it could happen)

Charlie, does my bum look big in this?

I could do something quick and easy yet effective. I'll stand next to Mummy Dog, her bottom is much bigger then mine.

Paws up
Charlie Paris

2012 CENSUS DATA AVAILABLE

Data from the 2011 Census of Population and Housing will be available on the ABS website from 11.30am on 21 June 2012. Visit www.abs.gov.au/census

The Australian Bureau of Statistics (ABS) is thanking Australians for participating in the 2011 Census of Population and Housing ahead of this Thursday's release of the first Census results.

ABS South Australian Regional Director, Gary Niedorfer, said everyone in South Australia should feel proud to have contributed to something so important for the nation's future.

"From Thursday 21 June, Census data will be available to everyone for free on the ABS website.

"Census data isn't just for Government – charities, community organisations, schools and universities, religious groups, businesses of all sizes and individuals all make use of Census data every day.
